OGDEN CITY'S SCHOOL POPULATION

Monday-7,000 Is Present Estimate Of School Children, ogden, July 30.-The city school census enumerators will finish their work Monday evening but will be given work Monday evening out the second until Aug. 10 to make their reports. Though nearly completed, the count cannot be officially given at this time, but it is safe to say that the school population of the city this year will not fall short of 7,000 and it may be a little higher. The population last year was 6,700 and the enumerators have already reached a point in the census taking to justify the conclusion that this number will be exceeded by at least 250. The principals of the schools were called upon to attend to the taking of the census because the board of education desired that a correct count should be made and they felt that there were none others in the city who could make the reckoning so thoroughly as the pedagogues, who are acquainted with the school population.

The work has been in progress since july 15, and the enumerators say that when the counting is finished next Monday night, Aug. 1, all the students of school age will be on the books. until Aug. 10 to make their reports.

LOGAN,- July 28.-The city and county school boards are up in arms over the action of the county commissioners in reducing the school tax levy a half mill, and plans are being in defor a demonstration when the commissioners meet again, the object being to secure a reconsideration of the action. To leave matters as they now are, the school people say, will sadly cripple the schools for this year, as a good deal of money has already been spent in various ways, upon the promise of the commissioners that the levy would not be disturbed this year, and if the half mill is taken off there will have to be retrenchment that will affect the schools disastrously. One was drafted and was to have been presented; but later it was ascertained that there are legal difficulties in the way of the passage of the law and it was not brought up. It is, doubtful if it will be, some of the councilmen say, as the thing, or one of the things attempted to be forestalled has already happened—the photographs of the light have been shown, here for three nights.
